It is a place where the ancient and the modern coexist, where the traditions of the past are still alive and well. In her new book, Basilicata, Authentic Italy: A Journey to the Heart of the Mezzogiorno, Karen Haid takes readers on a journey through this fascinating region, introducing them to its people, its history, its culture, and its cuisine.

The book is divided into four parts, each of which focuses on a different aspect of Basilicata. The first part, "The Land," introduces readers to the region's geography, climate, and natural beauty. Haid takes readers on a journey through Basilicata's mountains, valleys, and coastline, highlighting the region's stunning diversity.

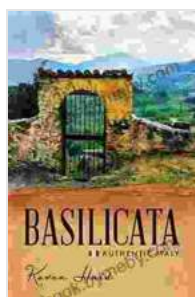

The second part of the book, "The People," focuses on the people of Basilicata. Haid introduces readers to a cast of characters who embody the spirit of the region. There is Nonna Lucia, a 90-year-old woman who still cooks traditional Basilicata dishes over a wood-fired stove; there is Antonio, a young farmer who is working to keep the region's agricultural traditions alive; and there is Maria, a passionate tour guide who loves sharing her knowledge of Basilicata with visitors.

The third part of the book, "The History," explores the rich history of Basilicata. She highlights the region's many historical sites, including the ancient city of Metaponto, the medieval town of Matera, and the modern city of Potenza.

Haid introduces readers to the region's unique dishes, such as orecchiette (ear-shaped pasta), peperoni cruschi (dried peppers), and baccalà (salt cod).
